Continuation of 5. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: the applicant's attempt to limit the skill of ordinary artisans in the etching art as to the effect of using certain known gas chemistries for etching (see Hill et al.) in a plasma etching machine as described by Lymberpoulos et al. is not convincing. Lymberpoulos suggests the principles of operation including process gas composition for etching were within the realm of the reasonably skilled artisan (col. 9 lines 1-10). The suggestion for a controlled magnetic
